

Portfolio Website

As looked on my screen. I have chosen a winter theme to build my website, so I have tried to keep the portfolio colors to gradient. <https://html-color.codes/> this website really helped in the process.

I have added the background color for section in main to highlight the sections and I have used display flex to have the image to left and context header to right

This is how the web page looks when the edge is resized to the dimensions of a mobile
